

2017 Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling®

Press Release—April 7, 2017

COMAP is pleased to announce the results of the 19th annual Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling (ICM). This year 8085 teams representing institutions from eight countries participated in the contest. Fourteen teams were designated as OUTSTANDING WINNERS representing the following schools:

- Anhui University, China (INFORMS winner)
- Brown University, RI, USA
- Harvard University, MA, USA
- Harvey Mudd College, CA, USA
- Humboldt State University, CA, USA (Rachel Carson Award)
- Nanjing University Of Aeronautics And Astronautics, China
- NC School of Science and Mathematics, NC, USA (2) (Vilfredo Pareto Award -- 68940)
- Shanghai Jiao Tong University, China (3) (INFORMS winner -- 64486) (Leonhard Euler Award -- 55295)
- United States Military Academy, NY, USA
- University of Electronic Science and Technology of China, China
- Zhejiang University, China (INFORMS winner)

This year's contest ran from Thursday, January 19 to Monday, January 23, 2017. During that time, teams of three students researched, modeled, and communicated a solution to an open-ended interdisciplinary modeling problem. The 2017 ICM was an online contest, where teams registered and obtained contest materials through COMAP's ICM Website.

ICM teams chose one of the following three problems: The D Problem involved designing methods to optimize passenger movement through airport security. By taking a flow perspective through various security zones, the modelers sought to design fast and secure security systems for airports. The E Problem focused on urban planning by looking at smart growth and sustainable cities. The teams sought to understand and model the principles of modern urban planning to improve city operation. The modelers tested their systems on two cities of their choosing. The F Problem focused on policy modeling. The problem involved a future scenario of establishing policies for a work force to migrate to Mars in 2100. The modelers focused on finances, education, and social equality of the future Mars colony. These problems challenged teams to utilize a diverse set of disciplinary skills including science, mathematics, politics, government operations, data science, and analysis in their modeling. In all three cases, teams searched for pertinent data and grappled with how phenomena internal and external to the system under study needed to be considered. The student teams came up with creative and relevant solutions to complex questions facing modern societies and built models to handle the tasks assigned in the problems. These problems also had the ever-present ICM requirements to use data analysis, creative modeling, and scientific methodology, along with effective writing and visualization to communicate their teams' results in a 20-page report. A selection from the Outstanding solution papers will be featured in The UMAP Journal, along with commentaries from the problem authors and judges. This year's judges remarked that due to the multi-disciplinary nature of the problems, teams were able to solve these problems using a variety of methods and tools. This allowed teams to showcase their strengths in many diverse areas including information science, queuing theory, networks, ecology, environmental sciences, health sciences, public policy, dynamical systems, and geo-spatial techniques.

2017 ICM Statistics

- 8085 Teams participated
- 3664 Problem D submissions
- 3621 Problem E submissions
- 800 Problem F submissions
- 161 US Teams (2%)
- 7924 Foreign Teams (98%) from Australia, Canada, China, Hong Kong SAR, Indonesia, Singapore and United Kingdom
- 14 Outstanding Winners (1%)
- 23 Finalist Winners (1%)
- 853 Meritorious Winners (10%)
- 2888 Honorable Mentions (34%)
- 4259 Successful Participants (52%)
- 17 Unsuccessful Participants (1%)
- 31 Disqualified Teams (1%)

ICM is associated with COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling (MCM), which was held during the same weekend. ICM is designed to develop and advance interdisciplinary problem-solving skills in science, technology, engineering, mathematics (STEM) and the humanities, as well as competence in data science and written communication. Over the years the ICM problems have included topics in environmental science, biology, chemistry, resource management, operations research, information science, public health, and network science. Each team is expected to include advisors and team members who represent a range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary interests in applied problem solving and modeling. To obtain additional information about the ICM and to obtain a complete listing of all the team designations, please visit the ICM Website at: www.mcmcontest.com.

Major start-up funding for the ICM was provided by a grant from the National Science Foundation (through Project INTERMATH) and COMAP. Additional support is provided by The Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS). COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, workers, and community leaders.
